"The collection of coins has not only become an infatuating and engrossing pursuit among thousands of persons of all ages and either sex, but out of it has grown up an extensive trade, furnishing the means of livelihood to numerous individuals in all our large cities. Prices have risen a hundred fold, in some cases almost incalculably; unreasonably; and speculation has been rife . . .

(from The American Journal of Numismatics, Vol. 1, No. 1, May, 1866.)

OUR TERMS OF SALE

1. All coins are guaranteed genuine. I will replace or issue a refund for any coin found not to be genuine. This is a lifetime guarantee. Over ten years of business I have never had to make good on this promise. But I make it anyway for your protection.

2. All attributions are guaranteed correct. Also a lifetime guarantee. I will issue a refund or if available provide a replacement for any coin found to be mis-attributed.

3. A full thirty day return privilege is allowed on all purchases. Returns may be made for any reason, or for no reason. My business depends on attracting repeat customers. It does neither one of us any good for you to keep a coin with which you are not completely satisfied. I am confident that the overall quality and value of the material I offer here is second to none. This does not mean that you might not order a coin that fails to satisfy your personal taste or desire. It is even possible for me to have missed a defect or to have been optimistic about the grade. It can happen. But it is not my intention. I encourage you to use the thirty days as an approval period. Feel free to show your purchases to other knowledgeable EAC members. Get a second opinion. All sales are final after the thirty day period, though I will certainly consider an extension upon reasonable request.

4. Approval service is also available to established clients. Seven days inspection is allowed on approval service at which time the coin must be returned or funds remitted. Approval sales are considered final after the seven days. Extensions are available upon request. We also accept VISA or MASTERCARD.

5. All orders are sent postpaid.

6. Strict ANA and EAC guidelines are followed in grading.

In addition to strict ANA and EAC guidelines I have introduced "value" or "net" grading into my descriptions. Sharpness or technical grade according to ANA standards is fairly easy to describe with consistency. However most old copper coins have acquired defects over time that detract from the overall desirability of the coin. I describe these defects and deduct from the technical grade based on their presence. As an example a coin might be described: "1805 S-267 VF20.

Sharpness of VF30 with smooth brown surfaces, some light pin scratches where corrosion was removed at K1 reverse." Here is a coin VF30 by ANA standards but with scratches at one o'clock on the reverse. Plainly the coin would be more desirable were the scratches not present. I describe the defects and deduct ten points from the overall grade. The first grade listed represents the net or value grade. Clearly this is an art and elements of subjectivity are inevitable. Where there is no second grade listed it is my opinion that the net grade is the same as the sharpness grade. Perhaps not perfection but whatever marks present have been judged to be consistent with the technical grade of the coin and do not detract from the net grade. The intent is for you to have as close an idea as possible of the overall condition of the coin you may wish to purchase. No unpleasant surprises!

7. I attempt to give a rarity rating for each variety listed. These in large part reflect the current EAC ratings as compiled in Jack Robinson's Copper Quotes. I also offer opinions relative to condition census ratings, die state, and condition rarity. These change constantly as new coins are discovered and reported. I attempt to use the latest data or information available. Still these ratings cannot be 100% accurate and remain a matter of opinion only. Having said this I can also say with confidence that more information and more research is available on Early Copper than any other area of American Numismatics. Large cents have been actively collected and researched for more than one hundred years. One can therefore have a high degree of confidence in the general accuracy of current information. I urge all my clients to form the numismatic library necessary to allow them to make informed judgements and purchasing decisions. It is foolish to invest money in coins if you have not already invested in the books and other sources necessary to the full enjoyment of them.

8. I have yet to meet anyone who has bought coins merely as an investment who has realized a net return upon liquidation. I have, however, met numerous serious collectors, who having formed a discrimination collection over a period of years realized a substantial profit when their collection was ultimately sold. Most collectors find that the enjoyment, education, and friendships formed as a result of their collecting pursuits have been their greatest reward. It is much easier to lose money quickly than to make money quickly in rare coins. If you are not willing to undertake the educational process necessary to make well informed decisions regarding your collection you will almost certainly lose. Coin dealers are often more than willing to give investment advice. As my good friend Jack Robinson (whose collection did very well for him when it was sold in 1989) likes to say: THINK ABOUT IT! When you ask a cat which canary to buy remember his first concern may not be how well it sings. There are many opportunities to do well financially in rare coins. But as with any other medium of investment, success is the result of a combination of knowledge, good timing and the ability to wait for the right time to sell. Commit yourself to the process of becoming an educated collector and you stand a good chance of success.

This is my annual Christmas catalog. You may take a 10% discount off any item listed in this catalog. I have had a couple great buying months so you will see many additions to this list.

You may use VISA or Mastercard to make your purchase and as always we are happy to take coins in trade.

We will endeavor to have your order to you in plenty of time for the holidays. Wives and husbands order gifts for their collecting spouse each year. Of course, we encourage you to order a gift for yourself! Nothing adds a more festive atmosphere to the holidays than a new copper for your collection! (Well, there are a few things but you get my drift.)

Please call to reserve any item. Second choices are always appreciated.

The EAC Sale comes early this year. If you want to consign items to the sale, we would like them by January 1st. Your consignment supports the Club.

The November 18, 2000 C-4 Sale

We have just concluded our most successful Colonial Coin Collectors Club Sale to date. The total hammer price was $322,752. Many record prices were realized (including $400 for a libation lot. Approximately $2400 total was realized from donated lots this year).

Each year the Colonial Coin Collectors Club holds its annual convention in conjunction with Ed Aleo's Bay State Fall Show. This is a very well run and graciously administered show. The C-4 Club creates a collegial atmosphere and the upbeat friendly atmosphere spills over into the Sale room. This year's sale was called by Ron Guth who many of you remember from his Half Cent collecting days or his Vermont collecting days. And many of you may now know him from his "Coin Facts" website.

Ron did a great job of calling over 500 lots in three hours and change while keeping a good sense of humor throughout. One lot that received a lot of attention prior to the sale was lot 5, the Oak Tree 3 Pence NOE 23 in AU55, an R7 variety. This example was reportedly unearthed from a New England yard. It realized $16,500 making for a very lucky gardener.

I liked lot 12, the Lon-don Elephant Token, a nice VF20. It brought a hammer price of $2400.

Of course, the highlight of the sale was the Albany Collection of Machins Mills Coinage. These brought very strong prices across the board and I will mention only a few highlights. Complete prices realized will follow. The first lot, the only head facing left variety V.1-47A in VF30 brought a somewhat sensible $1600 going to a West Coast collection. But a few lots later sense left the room as the EF45 1772 V.24-72c lot 55 brought an astounding $8250 to a former New Netherlands cataloguer presumably representing a New York collector. (It just occurred to me that since I am a principal of the firm running the sale my readers might think my presumptions to be something more than guesses, but no. I'm just guessing like the rest of the bidders in the room. This is strictly for entertainment!)

Lot 56, the 1774 V.3-74A EF40 went to the same bidder for $8500!

I loved lot 65, the Double Struck 1778 V.11-78A in AU50 at $3100. It seemed almost reasonable. It will join a very impressive group of its kin.

Note that lot 67, the more common late die state 1778 V.12-78B EF45 brought only $750 while the more scarce early die state of the same variety brought a strong $4200 bid. the popular 1784 V.14-84A EF45 brought $5250. While the finest known 1787 V.18-87c lot 79 graded MS63 inspired a battle between a Californian from the North and a Californian from the South. The North won at $8000. But the strong demand and stronger prices proved to be an epiphany for many as collectors felt suddenly inspired to acquire at least one example from this fascinating series. In total the collection of 42 Machins brought over $120,000; an increase of almost $3000 per coin! Any one want to put some in next year's sale?

The Machins were not the only stars of the sale though portraiture coins in general did prove to be a focus of buyers' attention as opposed to the more picturesque mountain, tree, house, & Indian coins. (As they are called by the sixth graders to whom I occasionally give colonial motif presentations).

The Connecticuts proved to have some buried gems (both literally and figuratively). Lot 120, the 1786 LARGE HEAD M.2.2-D2 R7 G4 brought $6750. Almost $2000 a point or the price of a 1794 starred reverse large cent.

A pretty AU 1787 M.6.1-m R1 laughing head brought $2400. The not so pretty 1787 M.33.19-24 R7 F12 proved to be the second finest known after a slightly finer specimen showed up in a recent Bowers sale. This still looked attractive enough to fetch a $7250 bid from a California lawyer. There were several members of the legal trade in attendance. These true amateurs of Colonial collecting having shunned the rich litigation fields of Florida to attend our modest sale. My partner, Bob, graciously welcomed the barristers despite having fled the Sunshine State grateful to have escaped their brethren.

Among Vermont a nice EF RR6 Landscape lot 392 brought $2050. But a F12 RR26 bust right brought a strong $8750. An unusual 1787 Fugio Silver restrike possibly struck over a bust half host planchet brought $2700 as lot 450.

We were delighted with the response to the sale. Over 100 bidders crammed the room. And the "esprit de corps" of the Colonial Club Collectors is outstanding.

The traditional liquid refreshment lot brought $400! A nice set of plates of Machins donated by Neal Rothschild brought over $200. The leather-bound copy of this year's sale brought $350. Approximately $2400 was raised by donated lots. Oh, and lot D15, the pseudo imitation halfpence lot was again repurchased by last year's buyer and immediately redonated to next year's sale. See you there!

My son's football coach was fired last week. Not my son Glenn's who is 15 and in 9th grade. But my oldest son Frank who is now 19 and a freshman in college. Frank had a great senior season with Coach Brian Kelly. He played strong side safety and played pretty well. Kelly was a great coach and a great guy. At least to my view. Frank got lots of playing time and Kelly nominated him for every scholar/athlete award around including the state Jim Thorpe award. With a relatively modest athletic resume Frank still had the pleasure of being recruited by several college football programs before accepting an academic scholarship to Vanderbilt University in Nashville. Great to my kid = Great guy. That's pretty easy to understand, right? Why am I telling you all this except to brag on my kid? Well, when Kelly was let go I was incensed and fired off a letter to the local paper. So did some of his athletes and other parents. Here's a copy of my letter:

To the Editor:

I was disappointed to read the article about Santa Fe coach Brian Kelly's dismissal. I imagine it's not unusual for a coach with a 1 and 8 record to be replaced. But the implication that he was dismissed because of his character rather than his win/loss record rings false. I'm sure if his record had been 8 and 1, the "issues" referred to would not have proven so critical.

Mr. Kelly has been a good influence on the young men he has coached. Many students, including my son who played for him last year, consider him a mentor. Brian Kelly has done much good for Santa Fe football beyond the won/loss record. There are more than a dozen of his ex-players with college football scholarships to prove it.

My understanding is that Coach Kelly was ejected from a JV football game after a verbal disagreement with an official. Hardly grounds for dismissal. The Edmond Public Schools should issue another "statement" apologizing to Coach Kelly.

As you can see what angered me and others wasn't that Kelly was dismissed. Let's face it. If you go 1 and 8 they will want to find someone who might go 8 and 1, but the excuse was "other issues". Well, maybe there were other issues. But to those of us who liked Kelly it was a cheap shot.

So, what was Coach Kelly's response? There were no letters to the editor from him. He didn't say much of anything. He just set to work doing the best he could for his players. He sent out game film, he called college coaches, and within a week had procured Division One scholarship offers for two of his players, a tight end and a defensive back. He helped his assistants get ready for next year's season and he kept teaching class. What does the future hold for Coach Kelly? Maybe he'll take another coaching job. Or maybe not. He has a teaching degree in archeaology and a master's degree in administration. He is primarily a teacher and will continue to do what he does best: show young men the path to becoming grown men.

Let's contrast Coach Kelly with our political leaders. At least two of whom seem to have been shrunk by the heat of Florida's sun. The recent election resulted in an excruciatingly close result. The vote in Florida was basically a tie. No clear winner could be declared and an automatic recount only narrowed the margin of non-victory. Each side claimed they had "really" won. This quickly degenerated into finger pointing and accusations of cheating and unfair underhanded dealing. One would hope that these future leaders of the free world could have agreed on a course of resolution less destructive to the country. But this did not happen. Instead, more rounds of lawsuits, more recriminations, more accusations, more partisan posturing and nonsense have followed.

The result thus far? The stock market falls to lows for the year and the country is presented as a laughing stock to the world community. The end result? You can be assured the loser will whine and protest to the end and will continue to do everything in his power to undermine the eventual winner.

Is this just human nature to vindictively contest every imagined loss? To accuse every rival of less pure motives and corrupt principles? Have we reached the point where winning at any price is the only value? These pygmies alternately stomping in anger or dancing in partisan glee continue to undermine the country and the process they profess to honor. As for me..I wouldn't take the two of them along with all their attorneys for one Brian Kelly.
